Le Havre, a city on the move!

"Les bains des Docks"

Designed by the architect Jean Nouvel, this aquatic complex situated in the southern neighbourhoods of the city should open at the beginning of 2008 and will offer, among other things:

- a playground area (inside: beaches, lagoons, paddling pools, spas and waterslides / Outside: beaches and solariums)
- an open-air sports area with an Olympic-size pool and a beach
- altogether about ten pools will be available to the public along with a balneo-therapy area.

Docks neighbourhood - "Saint-Nicolas Urban Centre"

In the neighbourhood of the oldest Docks in France, in the southern part of the city, a commercial, cultural and leisure centre will open soon:

→ famous commercial brands, a 10,000m² garden centre, cinemas, bowling alley, restaurants, bars -among other things- will set there as soon as the end of 2008.

→ The "Sea and Sustainable Development Centre", designed by the famous architect Jean Nouvel, will be opened to the public in 2011.

Spring 2008: opening of the Hanging Gardens. On the cliff, overlooking the Baie de Seine, the Fort of Sainte-Adresse, monument of the mid 19th century, will soon start a second life. The buildings, turned into "hanging gardens" will be dedicated to nature and the environment. The place will shelter an arboretum and the municipal greenhouses. This is going to be a perfect place to go for a pleasant stroll since it provides one of the best panoramas on the sea.
